

Contemporary art meets the oldest flat screen printing technique – become a scholar at the lithography workshop STEINDRUCK MUNICH!

The lithography workshop STEINDRUCK MUNICH is located in the Muenchner Kuenstlerhaus at the Lenbachplatz midst in the heart of Munich, the Bavarian capital. The workshop itself constitutes a unique highlight in this culturally extremely rich metropole.

Carried by the Muenchner Kuenstlerhaus-Foundation the workshop aims to conserve and cultivate the traditional and multifaceted flat screen printig technique by offering artists a place where they can discover and focus on lithographic printing as an art form.

Thus, since 2001 the foundation grants a two months stay-and-work-scholarship four times a year. Up to today over 60 scholars from all over the world were able to benefit from our scholarship and thereby evolve their art skills.

SKILLS REQUIRED

The scholarship addresses artists from all over the world who are interested in intensely exploring the technique of lithography. Required are basic skills in lithographic printing as well as independent working.

WHAT WE OFFER

The workshop is, additionally to the normal working-hours, at the artist's disposal 24/7. Costs for the material at common use are covered by the Muenchner Kuenstlerhaus-Foundation. Merely the paper consumption is being charged.

The scholarship also comprises accomodation in a room adjacent to the workshop. Given the central location the workshop offers perfect public transport, a rich cultural atmosphere and at the same time the possibility to focus on the art work in a bright, calm and generous sourrounding. At the end of the two months stay the artist is given the oppportunity for a solo-exhibtion in the facilities of the workshop.
